LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

Thanks to the generosity and commitment of our volunteers as well as the companies and individuals who support us, we were able to improve the lives of 1,036,890 people in 2024.

My first words in this report, which reflects the progress made in the fight against poverty and food waste, are dedicated to the 3,247 volunteers who contribute their talent and effort to the daily work of FESBAL and the 54 associated Food Banks, and to the 96,707 who join the volunteers during the major annual collections. This report is the fruit of your energy.

2024 was marked by two major challenges. We stopped receiving 25 million kilos of aid from European Funds and we were confronted with the DANA catastrophe that affected hundreds of thousands of people.

In this context, the Food Banks have maintained their commitment to vulnerable groups by distributing 111 kg of food per person through a network of 6,062 partner charities.

In response to the DANA on October 30, FESBAL activated its emergency committee, coordinating the efforts of all associated Food Banks to assist affected individuals in the immediate aftermath of the disaster. The committee will remain active until recovery is achieved. Once again, this catastrophe has highlighted the solidarity of our regular partners during challenging times.

We have strengthened our commitment of over 30 years to fighting food waste by connecting surplus food donors with vulnerable groups through our comprehensive PlanB Project. Our goal is to remain the national benchmark in this fight, while also complying with the new regulations on food waste that will come into force in 2025.

In 2025, we will continue to face the challenge of reduced European funding, despite having the same number of beneficiaries to support. We hope to offset this situation through an increase in surplus food donations, driven by the enactment of the Law on Food Loss and Waste on April 2, through our PlanB initiative.

All of this will be possible thanks to the support of private entities, public institutions, and individuals—especially the volunteers who make up the great family of Food Banks.

A heartfelt thank you to all of you.

Pedro Miguel Llorca Linares
President, FESBAL
